² Nouns with their nominative in -της have a vocative singular in -ᾶ; nouns with their nominative in -ᾱς have a vocative singular in -ᾱ. (Other nouns of this type have their vocative singular in -η: e.g., Ἀτρείδης → Ἀτρείδη.) The vocative singular of δεσπότης is irregular in that the accent shifts to the first syllable (δέσποτᾶ); contrast πολίτης, which has the vocative singular πολῖτᾶ.
